Next Meeting is Monday, March 24, 2014 at The Tulsa Country Club located at 701 North Union AV, Tulsa, OK. www.tulsacountryclub.com

We would like to thank Mathey Dearman for sponsoring the March meeting! Founded and headquartered in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Mathey Dearman develops, manufactures and markets industry-leading cutting and beveling machines for all types of pipe and pipe diameters; pipe alignment and reforming clamps for welders and pipefitters requiring fast, accurate fit-ups. The company recently launched a family of portable CNC pipe profiling machines that feature an innovative laptop-driven control interface designed for welders not technicians. For more than 70 years Mathey Dearman has been known as the premier source for high-quality tools and equipment for pipefitters and welders. More information is available at www.matheycnc.com and www.mathey.com.

Our speaker for the evening will be Corey Goulet with TransCanada. As Vice-President, Keystone Projects, Corey Goulet has overall accountability for the development and implementation of all phases of the Keystone Projects including securing land and permits, engineering, procurement, construction, commissioning, start-up and testing.

Prior to his current role, Mr. Goulet was Vice-President of the Facilities and Pipeline Projects department where he was responsible for leading the technical development and implementation of power plant, compression, metering and pipeline projects in Canada and the United States.

Mr. Goulet has 27 years of energy infrastructure experience. His experience is varied and has focused on the development, construction, operation and maintenance of natural gas, wind, hydro, nuclear and transmission power facilities; gas, oil and refined products pipelines; and oil and gas production facilities. He joined the company in 1998 as a manager in the international business unit where he was responsible for developing projects. Since that role, he has lead various departments including pipeline engineering, energy projects, and nuclear technical development.

Mr. Goulet is a former member of the Operations and System Integrity subcommittee for CSA Z662 Oil and Gas Pipeline Systems. In addition, he represented TransCanada for two years as a Board member, Executive Committee member, and Planning Committee member with the Pipeline Research Council International, Inc. (PRCI). Mr. Goulet has also been a Board member for two joint venture companies.
